CASEY REAS bitforms, September 10 - October 16

For the start of their 15th-anniversary season the tech-focused Lower East Side gallery bitforms is presenting a show by one of their first artists, Casey Reas. His chosen medium is software in its many manifestations, which he uses to create highly conceptual works that evade simple categorization. Reas's show will feature a mixture of old and new work showcasing the artists ongoing interest in program-as-performance, presenting his software pieces as evolving happenings rather than static works.
